KITCHEN HOOD

CLEANING SERVICE

“first choice in cleaning industry..”

A kitchen exhaust hood is a device containing a mechanical fan that hangs above the stove in the kitchen. It removes airborne grease, combustion products, fumes, smoke, heat, and steam from the air by evacuation of the air and filtration. In commercial kitchens exhaust hoods are often used in combination with fire suppression devices so that fumes from a grease fire are properly vented and the fire is put out quickly. Commercial vent hoods may also be combined with a fresh air fan that draws in exterior air, circulating it with the cooking fumes, which are then drawn out by the hood.

In an exhaust hoods, a filtration system removes grease and other particles. Although many vent hoods exhaust air to the outside, some recirculate the air to the kitchen. In a recirculating system, filters are used to remove odors in addition to the grease.

ECOLOGY UNIT CLEANING SERVICES

“choose the best for your kitchen needs”

Ecology Unit is an efficient and economical solution to remove the contaminated air from the kitchen hood. They are suitable for conveying kitchen exhaust air. The removal of grease from the exhaust air flow is very important part of a commercial kitchen operation. If there is no proper grease trap at the kitchen hood it could:

Increase fire hazard at the exhaust duct

Increase the frequency expensive duct cleaning.

Creates bad odor in or near the restaurant surroundings.

Increase the collection of grease on the top which could cause deterioration of roof materials.

These problems can be reduced through the proper use ecology unit at the kitchen.
